February 1st. to April 19 th., 2015

Susana Gastelumendi Vilaboa, architect, manages a Spanish consultancy, representing Spanish artists in Europe. She is passionate about art activities and for the values that art generates and transmits, thus she is collaborating with Spanish artists in their international promotion.

Kralingen Gallery of Rotterdam and Susana Gastelumendi are presenting a group of artists living in Valencia, over the Mediterranean coast from February 1st. to April 19 th, 2015: Matilde Alonso, Carmen Bayarri, Tona Calderón, Daniel Urta.

They have the pleasure to invite you to visit this exhibition in Kralingen Gallery of Georges Knap and Micheline Nijsten, located at Gashouderstraat 9, 3061 EH Rotterdam.

Matilde Alonso

Matilde Alonso Salvador is graduated with a degree in Architecture from the Architecture School at the Polytechnic University of Valencia since 1997 where she teaches Urban Planning and Landscape.

As an artist she develops an intense activity that has received wide official recognition since her beginning in 2003, with the exhibition at the Exhibition Hall of the Rector of the Polytechnic University of Valencia. Since then, she has performed more than 25 exhibitions in Madrid, Alicante, Castellón, Ibiza, Brussels, Hamburg, Zaragoza and Valencia, among other cities.

For Carmen Gracia: "Matilde Alonso Salvador leads the pictorial language to their limits. With her painted women, she tries to disembowel the ultimate sense of the inner tear. In her paintings, she destroys the world of appearances, conventions about the beauty of the female body, to enter into an inner world whose physical presence is of colours and lines. This break causes that the relationship between the viewer and her paintings, is complex and ambivalent. Her paintings are presented at the same time evocative and disturbing, direct and abstract... The female body is perceived in a contradictory impulse of self-assertion and self-destruction, active conscience and reinterpretation dream. "

Carmen Bayarri

Between 1977 and 2007, she develops her professional career at Lladró as advertising and graphic designer as a starting. Later on she acts as material designer and staging manager for product presentation. At her last stage, as Fairs, Shows and Mise-en-Scène's manager, she made set-ups on emblematic buildings across the principal cities in the world: Moscow, Tokyo, London, New York, Milano, Buenos Aires, Mexico D.F.... where the lighting has always been a key element.

Among her many works, the design of the Lladró Museum stands out. Recently, this Museum has been added to the network of museums of the Valencian Community. Another significant design is the Lladró Stand for Maison Objet 2006 which opened the doors of this important event for the brand.

In 2007 Carmen opens her own Studio in Almássera, a little town near Valencia. This is her base to work on several projects related to industrial design, interior architecture, production, shop windows and graphic design.

The designer Carmen Bayarri presents two very different collections of pieces of furniture with a common inspiration: her attraction to all the objects connected with writing, a link that may be originated in her first professional stage in the world of communication.

The collections TIPOS and GIROS are the result of eagerness, desire and knowledge. Those two works are the result of gathering experiences and making dreams come true.

Tona Calderon

Tona is a Spanish artist, born in Valencia. She is an internationally known artist, living during several years in the USA till 2013. She created her own morphological anatomy: "The Tora," which has given her a great popularity and a great international recognition.

She is graduated from the Faculty of Fine Arts of San Carlos, University of Valencia with "Honors" at her class in Sculpture Portrait, professor of Space Representation Systems., Artistic Sculpture and Drawing, Technical Design and Production Cultural Programs, professor at Broward Country Library Florida (USA).

Multidisciplinary artist, she bases most of her creativity in sculpture and painting. With "The Toras", Tona defined her own style in a very unique way, creating highly original collections, volumes and evocative, mysterious and disturbing images, causing the viewer, at least, the need to dive into their world, seeking not only the spiritual approach, but the fusion of the intangible matérico.

- What is "The Tora" (she bull) ? -

The Tora "is the symbiosis between an animal and a human, represented in the body and spirit of a woman".... "I AM THE TORA !!

His work is characterized of a superposition of elements, that constitute a painted "collage". While you may be considering a figurative artist, the disposition of the images and the introduction of geometric elements make him a syncretic author, interested in artistic synthesis.

Daniel Urta

Daniel Urta was born in Montevideo, Uruguay. He travelled to Spain in 1985 where he decided to live.

My work as a sculptor has progressed in parallel with my life. Conscious of a need to amplify my sources of information. In 1985 I left my native Uruguay with my wife and son, came to Europe, settling in Spain because of its cultural proximity. Once installed in mediterranean Valencian. I began a sculptural work in mixed media based on the recycling of materials (woods, metals, fragments of objects). This work progressed from its figurative roots to a more conceptual aesthetic and a new proposal involving space and spectator which led to my investigating mold-making and modelling with plaster and sparto. The outcome of this period was that I received the XXVI Bancaja Prize for Sculpture –one of the most prestigious awards in Spain– for a work of an intimist nature, and I also exhibited my most ambitious piece at that time: an installation conceived as an environment, in the Punto Gallery, one of Valencia’s galleries with the most presence in international art fairs (Basel, Chicago, FIAC, ARCO, Dokumenta Kassel, etc).

Subsequently, in the search for new methods of expression, I completed a welding course which led my attending a vocational training course in iron forging.

“My intention is to consolidate a vocational path into a professional experience of dialogue between the world of ideas and the relationship with materials which adapt themselves to their ideological positions. I aspire to relate life and art as a clear statement of a personal commitment which would manifest itself in practical form as sculpture exhibited to the public”
